

Integrated model of coach world

The integrated model of coach world is divided:

1. Game's Model
2. Training Model
3. Analysis Model

Each one of us has an idea how soccer should be played. However, the coach must have a concrete and a clear idea of how the team should solve the different competitive situations (game model).

Game's Model

The game model underlines the coach's ideas, inducing the players to perform certain actions, creating a network of relationships and inter-relationships, which are being improved by the training and competition process, allowing all its members to converge on the strategic and tactical collective purpose.

In this subject, there are 3 elements to consider:

1. The coach ideas of soccer.
2. The player's capacities to full fill the coach ideas.
3. The competitive context
